

A story of Radiant Networking: October 2003—April 2011 by Anne Stadler

“Out beyond ideas of right doing and wrong doing, there is a field. I’ll meet you there.” - Rumi

This is a story of Radiant Networking as it has been experienced by me, Anne Stadler. I came to this as a result of my inquiry into “the next Buddha will be a collective”, asking: What is a co-creative, conscious collective?

In the course of that inquiry I learned that I am here at this time on earth for the purpose of being part of such a collective. I was led to Fluent Communication, and thence to radiant networking.

In describing the Universe, Physicist David Bohm says order exists at all levels of the unfolding dynamic cosmos. Implicate order is what we call the unseen world of Spirit. Explicate order is what we can see and apprehend with our five senses.

The Radiant Net exists as a level of implicate order, resonating as light, maintaining a constant framework for the radiance at the heart of all material (explicate) forms on the earth plane. It was referred to in Indian mythology as Indra’s Net. At the explicate level: as beings on the earth plane attain higher frequencies by living in union with the sacred, they become radiant networkers, conscious creators in the evolutionary impulse of Universal Consciousness.

Co-creative collective consciousness emerges through Divine guidance.

Anyone who has experienced intuition, an accurate hunch, a gut feeling, has been shown his/her inborn capacity for Divine guidance—or knowing spiritual truth. All humans rely on Gnosis, higher Self, the Universal guidance system. Our bodies are constantly receiving information and guidance from Gnosis. We are resonating with evolving cosmic consciousness. It is through our conscious awareness of Universal Consciousness residing within us that consciousness expands on the planetary plane. We express our awareness in moment to moment, daily acts of creation.

Fluent Communication is a means of embodying one’s union with Spirit. It is a simple practice of developing trust and awareness of one’s own innate body/mind/spirit connection. Using a pendulum, or a kinesthetic felt sense, for verification, one retrieves spiritual Truths and accesses guidance beyond intellectual knowing, in the mundane conduct of life as well as in relation to substantive and spiritual matters.

Fluent Communication acknowledges the energetic nature of being, recognizing that what appears material are actually energetic patterns resonating with the planetary and cosmic fields. By using a pendulum, and/or tuning in to one’s felt sense, one can reliably access the field of Universal Consciousness which animates all. In so doing, one can release systems of belief that separate; unite with the Universal Guidance system; and live in the flow of life force.

The quantum physics observation that the observer is part of the result can be experienced in human transformation as follows: As one participates in the transformation of any issue, your level of consciousness as the observer/participant, is crucial to the experience which takes place. If your level of consciousness is gnostic, the experience is one of unification/wave-like, transforming the whole being, down to the cellular level. It is experienced in a unification, supported frame of reference as ease or flow, rather than as separateness. If your consciousness as the observer/participant is at the consensus reality level, you experience the transformation from the point of view of separation, as a particle, with the attendant feelings of fear, abandonment, etc. In the Fluent experience of working in circle, all are receiving from the gnostic level. Therefore, as each one maintains that level of consciousness, the experience is perceived as communion and consistent opening to life force.

Relationship of Fluent Communication with Sacred Mayan Calendars and Radiant Networking:

In the cosmic context, I am 16.5 Billion years old. My DNA contains information generated at the time the Universe was formed. As I embrace my cosmic origin, I am intimately connected to the planet and to all life. My own life is a microcosm of the entire cosmos. I am "one", an individual particle of Universal Creation, and "One", an embodiment of Universal Consciousness that is invisible and formless. As such, I participate in ALL life. I am Spirit evolving materially in Holy Time.

The Mayans represented this essential holographic connection in their Sacred calendars. These were gifted to the Mayans as a form of divine embodiment. They are a metaphor of Holy Time which represents the relationship between individual expression of Universal Creation and the cosmic/planetary expression of Universal Consciousness. Their relevance to the transformation of consciousness now occurring on planet Earth is described in detail by Dr. Carl Johan Calleman in his book, The Mayan Calendar and the Transformation of Consciousness.

Fluent Communication first came into the world during the mid-point of Day Two of the Galactic cycle of the Mayan Calendar (Germination: the expansive push of the new consciousness.) as a small circle of people came together to learn Fluency: a divining practice Marilyn Overcast had been receiving for several years and was now allowed to share with others.

Fluent Communication is based on the principle of Self-expression: I am responsible for my own life and everything I experience in it. I create my experience and I am responsible for re-creating all aspects that do not serve me optimally. I understand that while I am one, I am also an integral part of the One whole. Thus as I express mySelf, I am not separate, I am co-creating the evolution of All.

You create from your personal level of Soul's expression and motivation, and the material world reflects that back to you. As you become centered in Divine Essence, you experience and express your uniqueness in ways that authentically reflect the all-seeing all-knowing loving expression of your nature. And you become part of the flow of creation.

Mid-point in the Third Night of the Mayan Tun Calendar (Sprouting: Inner assimilation of established new consciousness), Fluent Communication energetically aligned with others' desire for soulful expression and moved from the Northwest in 2004. April 2004 marked the first Fluency workshop outside Seattle, in Albuquerque New Mexico. September 2004, a fluently received call for radiant networking drew people to Pune India (concurrent with Sept. 15th, mid-point in the Tzolkin Round of the Third Day/Night cycle and toward the end of Night Three).

Fluent Communication has been called to increased visibility as the Fourth Day has progressed. Workshops have been held in New Mexico, California, Pacific Northwest, Texas. And people who practice Fluent Communication have been called to cleanse energy lines in many sacred places, such as Iona, Scotland, Northern Ireland, the U.K., Hawaii, and New Mexico.

As the Fourth Night (Cleansing and purification. Bridge-building to prepare for expansion of new consciousness.) began, practitioners of Fluent Communication were guided to remember and express our presence as creators, forerunners of creative community life.

As those who receive information through Fluent Communication calm the energies within, they rediscover their divine essence, assisting others in expressing their gift to the world.

Fluent Communication and Radiant Networking:

Anne Stadler began fluently receiving information about the Radiant Net in October 2003. Mid-Sept. 2004 in Pune, was the first articulated invitation to gather light workers for manifesting Radiant Net on planet. Other information re. Radiant Net came during both 2004 and 2005. This information emphasized the divine gift exchange at the heart of radiant networking.

A Brief Story of the Collective Exploration of Radiant Networking

SEPTEMBER 2004

People gathered in Panchgani near Pune India for four days of living collectively in guidance.

This was the call to which we responded:

"We call you to join us in Pune India, Sept. 17—20th, 2004, to make the Quantum Leap into full responsibility for co-creating the world we want to live in.

This gathering is created in response to this message from Universal Consciousness:

"We call all who know themselves to be the light bearers: healers, leaders, artisans, teachers, visionaries to show up fully in magnificent diversity—asking only that you bring your gifts and from that exchange of gifts you begin to co-create (with us) the Radiant Net of Receiving Centers which will communicate with us in a collective consciousness—bringing peace, joy and abundance alive on the planet Earth.

The Radiant Net is nascent, yet present, wherever people are receiving direct guidance from God consciousness. It is profoundly needed at this moment in Earth history for it has been shrouded in darkness and transmuting in the muck for eons.

You are asked to make a Quantum Leap—to build capacity for the emergence of the Radiant Net, also known in antiquity as Indra's Net. The Radiant Net is a network of light beings doing their work in the world. You are ready to connect, and in that connection, raise the consciousness of all beings on the planet.

In Pune we call you to come together to co-create what is needed to provide the material form, sustenance, connection and expand the light.

There is no time to spare, and there is all the time in the world."

We will self-organize, using Open Space Technology, so that we have maximum connection to the flow of Spirit."

And we came: 40 or more people—an international group from a number of countries. I opened the gathering by reading the Call I'd received. And I confessed I didn't know what we were going to DO...nor did I know anything more about the Radiant Net. I only knew we were to speak and act from guidance as best we could and see what emerged.

As we introduced ourselves around the circle, it became apparent that none of us knew Why or for What purpose?—all were simply there to offer their gifts and see what happened.

A bust of Gandhi watched over us from one end of the large room. At the other was a windowed wall of French doors leading outside, on which we posted our offerings for formal gatherings.

We used the simple format of Open Space Technology to Self-organize our time together.

After welcoming introductions, we were inspired by music from A Cappella-- a singing group who happened to be staying at Panchgani for another purpose. Arun Wakhlu, one of the Convenors of our gathering, invited them to join us to launch our first evening together. After an uplifting and joyous musical offering, they decided to spend another day with us. These young men were students at a nearby Christian business college in Pune. Many were Africans whose countries and families had been devastated by tribal warfare. They showed us how spirit enlivens and moves bodies and emotions from silence to joyful noise.

Music became a stream of communion during the entire time we were together. One evening, an impromptu talent show emerged. Offerings ranged from drumming, and story telling to belly dancing, and torch singing. Another night, four of us sang our way through doing the dishes with hit tunes from Broadway musicals, engaging everyone else as they and their music moved from the kitchen sink into the great hall.

A small group convened formally to feel their way into musical communication: toning, improvising, being guided in the moment to expression through the vibrations of sound.

The youngest among us—a sixteen year old woman from Pune offered a session on expressing the Soul via art. She opened the circle by confessing: "I don't actually know what this is—Here are the tools (gesturing to paper, pens and crayons). I suggest we just begin in silence or meditation, and then draw whatever we get." As we did this, magic happened. More and more people showed up to participate. As we completed our pictures and sat to reflect on them, she suggested each one speak about his/her experience as we gazed at the drawing. A field of loving appreciation grew and grew. We posted our Soul portraits in the hallway through which we passed daily: walking under the regard of these loving reminders of the interior beauty each brings into the world.

At one point people convened a formal effort to do an assessment of the gifts and resources assembled. I walked into the gathering as people were politely arguing over which method to use in the assessment. As the conversation was getting increasingly tense, I asked inwardly for guidance: "What is it optimal for me to do at this moment?" I got: "Ask for silence. Ask people to listen." Which I did. When the silence concluded, there was a palpable sense of relief and hilarity. Collective wisdom emerged: no assessment was required. All that was needed was continuing the free offering and exchange of gifts.

The natural world played its role in our conversations: it rained. It thundered and lightening flickered. It cleared and the sun shone. People climbed the trails to the top of the hill behind our retreat center—looking out over the vast prospect of steep hills and deep valleys. This place was a palpable spiritual center. We learned that many spiritual masters had walked these hills and valleys, communing with the rocks, plants and animals.

Some of us asked: what form should Radiant Network take? We were certain it shouldn't be an organization. Should it be a website? There was agreement among several of us: Arun Wakhlu, Mark Jones, and Candi Foon, Peggy Holman, Anne Stadler, Susan O'Connor, (and later on, Fritz and Vivienne Hull, and Marilyn Overcast) that we would be "nodes" of whatever it is, receiving and sharing information as we were guided.

Radiant NetworkING was the result—NO organization, NO centers, NO form, simply opening to the unknown. The appropriate form, if any, would emerge when the time was right.

JANUARY 2005

Four of us met in Montana at Valley of the Moon, Susan O'Connor's ranch. It was snowy outside. Nearby, in the woods, was a shrine to Our Lady Mary. For a day and a half, we listened and talked, asking what is Radiant Networking? At one point I decided to ask that question at Our Lady's shrine, and received this guidance:

[fluent guidance]

Radiant Networking is a gift exchange, honoring, supporting, and amplifying the life force in any situation, relationship, or place on the planet.

AUGUST 2005

All life is a gift exchange of abundant proportions. What is needed is that you very simply love yourself, show up for what you love, offer your gifts in service to all and re-member the ONE. You are never separate-- you are always One with All.

What is the collective form which arises from this? Imagine the Big Bang: starting with One, then separated into myriad shining individual holograms, each distinctive because of its original "medicine", each One because of its origin. Each with a special gift to bring into co-creating collective life. Indra's Net: a net of jewels, all distinctive, yet all fractals of each other.

Co-creating is simply re-membering. The result is community.

NOVEMBER 2005

In order to DO radiant networking, your radiance must BE bright and consistent, no matter what the material circumstances of life.

Each of you--and all others who have received information about the Radiant Net-- have been undergoing a period of cleansing, clarification, and purification. You will be continuing this process during 2006, as there is more to come.

Anne is asking: Is it optimal for the collective circle calling itself Radiant Networking to have material form? The answer at this time is NO, as none of you is yet able to sustain radiance consistently.

Each of you has been, and is, presented with work of utmost importance to your own evolution and the evolution of all. You will be attracting yet more of this as 2006 progresses. Your commitment to BE radiance will guide you to choose what fosters the divine gift exchange of radiant networking. Radiant networking requires that you live in guidance, if you do not already do so, with the intention of BEING radiance.

We welcome your expression of identity as Spirit living a material life. You are an embodied cosmic being. Your DNA contains the information which gave rise to the cosmos. It is time to honor all guises you have embodied and release all attachments.

We continued to gather, to explore the Mystery with our companions: human and non-human. Here is an excerpt from our invitation to come to Ojo Caliente May 23—28th, 2006

"You are invited to step into the Mystery with your Fluent Communication companions and unseen helpers.

We will sit in circle as points of inspiration and through inspiration receive what is necessary to support the energies that have made this experience available to us. We will unravel the threads of our personal stories, explore our soul's longing, and embody the experience of universal truth as seen in the light of love.

Many places on planet have a deep connection to Source AND human yearning to be one with Source. The heartbeat of mother earth is felt in those physical environments. The energies of the animal and spirit world join in harmony at these locations. These places want to participate in supporting human and evolutionary transformation."

FEBRUARY 2006

An excerpt from my posting on the Collective Wisdom Initiative website:

Taking responsibility for what you love and living from inner guidance orients your individual intention toward what spirit (or the implicate order) wants to happen. As divine guidance manifests within each individual, all collective relationships are elevated to higher levels of vibration/consciousness/wisdom. A relationship circle is the receiving/transmitting dish for the emergence of collective wisdom via individual points of inspiration. It is the momentary experience of "community".

Community, communicate: The roots of the word guide one to the way. From the Latin: "cum", meaning "together;" "munus", meaning "gift". Community means a gift exchange, to share gifts. So how do we share gifts?? We show up for our own gifts, offer them in service, invite and welcome the gifts of everyone attracted, and/or in the circle with us. Simple.

In our fluent exploration of collective life, we've been guided to practice Self-organizing in the moment to moment evolving of our collective life. We've also been guided to harmonize our collective practice with the hinge times of the Mayan Calendar (see Carl Johan Calleman's work), and certain astrological moments—so that we are living in direct harmonic resonance with the larger evolutionary field.

At this moment in the history of the planet, how do you wish to participate in the evolutionary flow?

A fluent answer to this question seems to have come forth in the guidance received in March 2011 by Jeff VanDerClute.

The entire web of life on earth is being challenged by the cumulative effects of human unconsciousness. The survival of the human family depends upon our awakening to a state of consciousness wherein our fundamental unity and divinity are experienced and our actions are aligned with the well-being of all of Life.

A collaboration circle has emerged to answer the Divine call at this time of global transformation and opportunity. Radically open to the compassionate will of Unified Consciousness, a growing number of committed individuals are sourcing, together, the means of bringing coherence, resonance, and deep healing into the world. Each of us is offering our greatest gifts of music, spoken wisdom, multi-media, and sacred technologies (for instance, online circles of resonance) in service of the Great Awakening.

The fundamental premise of the Wisdom Collaborative is that Unified Consciousness is guiding us, as we open our hearts and listen, through experiences of resonance and synchronicity, toward the actions and insights that will address the greatest challenges of our times. We have chosen to listen so that we may participate in the transformation of human consciousness, and with it the structures of our civilization.

It is possible for humanity to live in peace and prosperity on this beautiful gem of a planet. Collective illumination is possible now. What can we do to shine together?
